Dear Patients and Families,

After more than 30 years of practicing orthodontics and having the privilege of caring for thousands of patients and families in our community, the time has come for me to begin thinking about the next chapter in my life and the future of Glaser Orthodontics.

With that in mind, I am very pleased to share that Dr. Isaac Chinitz will be joining Glaser Orthodontics and assuming ownership of the practice. Glaser Orthodontics will become the second location of Chinitz Orthodontics, where Dr. Chinitz will be working alongside Dr. Yvonne Holmes.

This was an important decision for me, and one that I made very thoughtfully. It was essential that I find someone who shares my commitment to excellent orthodontic care, but equally important, someone who believes in treating patients and families with the kindness, respect, and personal attention that have always been at the heart of our practice. I believe I have found that person in Dr. Chinitz.

Isaac's wife, Janine, will also be joining our team and will become a familiar presence in the office. I've had the opportunity to spend considerable time with both Isaac and Janine, and I've been impressed by how much they value the personal, family-centered atmosphere that has always been such an important part of Glaser Orthodontics.

As part of this transition, I plan to continue practicing at Glaser Orthodontics alongside Dr. Chinitz and Dr. Holmes over the coming months. We will be working closely together to ensure continuity of care and a thoughtful, seamless transition for every patient.

For those of you currently in treatment, and for the many younger patients we are watching as they grow, I especially want you to know that your care remains our priority. You will continue to see the familiar faces of our wonderful team, and I will remain actively involved in the practice and in your care during this transition.

It is difficult to put into words what this practice and all of you have meant to me over the past three decades. I have had the extraordinary privilege of watching children grow up, treating multiple generations of families, and forming relationships that extend far beyond orthodontics. The trust you have placed in me is something I have never taken for granted.

I am genuinely excited about this next chapter for Glaser Orthodontics, and I look forward to personally introducing many of you to Dr. Chinitz, Janine, and Dr. Holmes in the weeks ahead.

Thank you, as always, for the privilege of caring for you and your families.

Warmly,

Barry Glaser, DMD
